

LUXURY KENSINGTON HOTEL CHOOSES demista™ HEATED MIRROR PADS

All 150 bathrooms in the re-launched boutique Kensington Hotel in London, part of the prestigious Doyle Collection, have been fitted with demista™ heated mirror pads. The additional luxury of having steam free mirrors in the stylish new bathrooms, allows guests to shave, do hair and makeup, with an unspoilt view at all times. The pads are very low energy consuming around 1p per day.

demista™ pads are available in a choice of sizes, and can be used in multiples for very large mirrors. They have been selected for high class hotels and home developments around the world as well as being specified for bathroom and shower pods for hotels and apartments. The company also makes a range of bathroom cabinets that incorporate heated mirror pads. All the pads meet international standards for safety.
