

21ST CENTURY TECHNOLOGY COMBINES WITH VICTORIAN ELEGANCE

The epitome of cultured luxury, the new Renaissance St. Pancras Hotel from Marriott, promises the ultimate in comfort throughout the building including its guest rooms and suites. Following this theme the hotel, voted top UK hotel in The Sunday Times Magazine's 2011 top 100 hotels in the world, has demista™ heated mirror pads in all the bathrooms, ensuring a steam-free mirror at all times.

The 207 rooms and 38 suites were fitted with the demista™ pads from R&D demista™ (A division of R&D Marketing Ltd). The opulent bathrooms all had the 50 sq cm size pads concealed behind the mirrors. Originally designed along with St. Pancras Station by George Gilbert Scott the then Midland Grand opened in 1873. Brought back to its former glory and opened in 2011, The Renaissance St. Pancras joins a long list of hotels in the UK and around the world to have demista™ heated mirror pads fitted.
